EX-CONGRESSMAN GLASSCOCK PASSES AWAY AT WOODSIDE

John R. Glasscock, ex-congressman and ex-mayor of Oakland, passed away at the home of his son-in-law, Alex R. Baldwin, at Woodside, early Monday morning, after a short illness. The deceased was a native of Mississippi, aged 68 years, and came to California in the early sixties. He graduated from the old College of California, now the State University, in 1865, there being four in his class, which was the second to graduate from the college.

The deceased was one of the State's ablest orators. He began his political career in 1870. His first honor came when he was named as District Attorney of Alameda county. In 1882 he was elected to Congress from the State at large, serving two years. In 1887 he was elected as Mayor of Oakland. He held that office until 1890, retiring from politics to practice law with Carey Howard, with whom he was associated until he retired from active work, a few years ago.

Mr. Glasscock is survived by his wife, one son and three grandchildren.

His remains were taken in charge by the Redwood City Undertaking Company and shipped to San Francisco. The funeral took place Tuesday.

MONDAY-NIGHT STABBING AND CHEWING AFFRAY.

A stabbing and chewing affray occurred Monday night in the western addition to this city. Oscar Cheldokoz, a Swiss, visited a boarding house near the County road, opposite Beeger's tannery, and had some words with an Italian called Sylvio. After leaving the house Cheldokoz had got almost to Main street when a man with an umbrella assaulted him, and with a knife cut him on the forehead, barely missing the left eye, and also gashed him on the right shoulder. In attempting to protect himself, Oscar got one of his fingers into his assailant's mouth and that member was badly chewed.

Dr. J. L. Ross was summoned and the wounded man attended to, and Under Sheriff Shields and Marshal Coleman arrested Sylvio and placed him in jail to await the result of an investigation.

Cheldokoz was doubly injured as he had purchased a ticket to his home in Switzerland and was to have started yesterday on his trip. Although his injuries are not considered serious, a delay of a couple of weeks will probably be necessary.

SAN MATEO POULTRY SHOW WILL OPEN DECEMBER 4TH.

The second annual poultry show of the San Mateo County Poultry Association will be held under the auspices of the American Poultry Association at San Mateo, December 4th, 5th, and 7th. Henry Berrar of San Jose will be judge and retary, Arthur R. Schroeder; executive committee, C. W. Hansen, F. West, Fred Clark, Joseph H. Taylor and L. C. Vannier; show superintendent, T. L. Green; judge, Henry Berrar, San Jose, Cal.

Arthur R. Schroeder of San Gregorio is secretary. Entries for the show close November 25th.

Officers of the poultry association for the present year are: President, C. Stader; vice-president, L. G. Green; treasurer, T. L. Green; secber 4th, 5th, and 7th.

It is expected that a number of the poultry fanciers of this city and vicinity will exhibit.

TANNERY FOREMAN FALLS AND IS PAINFULLY HURT.

On Monday Samuel Christenson, foreman and one of the oldest employees at Beeger's tannery, fell and received serious injuries, as well as had a narrow escape from being killed. He had been in the second story of the drying house and started down stairs, when the top step broke under his weight, and he fell about twelve feet to the ground. He was immediately taken to his home and medical assistance summoned, when it was learned that beyond the shock of the fall, a broken collar bone was the extent of the injuries. It is a miracle that Mr. Christenson was not killed outright by the fall, for he is a large man and he fell quite a distance. He is resting easily and at present there is nothing to prevent a quick recovery.

Abandoned His Children.

A. Young of Daly City was arrested Tuesday by Constable Parker, accused of abandonment of his children. He was brought before Justice of the Peace Johnson and pleaded that he was out of work and had no money. Young was severely reprimanded by District Attorney Swart, who, after giving him some money to help him on his way, directed him to find work within a week, and to give his earnings to his wife, for the assistance of his family.

Coburn Will Have New Trial

Saturday, Judge Cabaness fixed December 8th as the date for the second trial of Loren Coburn, who has petitioned the court to restore him to competency.

M. Condy, accused of cruelty to animals, was acquitted by a jury in Judge Lampkin's court Tuesday.

WOMANLY SYMPATHY LIBERATES CRIMINAL

SAN MATEO THUG RELEASED FROM CUSTODY ON ACCOUNT OF LACK OF EVIDENCE.

Young Lady Who Was Held Up Declined to Send Assailant to Penitentiary for Crime.

"I'm not going to send a poor man to the penitentiary just because he robbed me of 25 cents," said Miss Edith Pearkes, society maid and niece of Mrs Eugene de Sabla, when requested by the San Mateo authorities to assist in the prosecution of Daniel T. Moran, who attacked and robbed her recently at the entrance to the De Sabla estate in Hillsborough.

The refusal of Miss Pearkes to testify against the holdup man caused Sheriff Mansfield to announce yesterday that he had released Moran from the county jail with the understanding that he would leave this State.

Moran, with his wife and two children, left immediately for Oregon, where they will make their home with relatives.

The Pearkes holdup was one of the most daring crimes ever committed in San Mateo county. The society girl was returning from early Sunday mass and had reached the entrance of the De Sabla place when Moran sprang from the foliage at the side of the road and grabbed her by the throat.

Unable to scream for aid Miss Pearkes gave up her prayerbook, rosary and purse, containing 25 cents, and then, thoroughly frightened by the threats of her assailant, she consented to go into the house for more money.

She entered the De Sabla mansion, passed several servants without sounding the alarm, and, going to her room, threw a dollar bill out of her window to the highwayman.

Moran, a cement worker, was arrested several days later, with the prayer book and rosary in his possession. When informed of her husband's deed, Mrs. Moran declared her intention to assist in the prosecution, but relented and finally refused to appear against him.

Niels Held Will Be Liberated.

Niels Held, who was sent to San Quentin from this county in 1909, is about to be pardoned by Governor Johnson. Judge Buck has approved the governor's action. Held, who was a light keeper at Montara was convicted of an assault on his 10-year-old stepdaughter. Previous to his conviction he bore an excellent reputation. He was given a term of ten years. It is understood he has experienced religion since his conviction.

The Native Sons were hosts at a large dance given at Foresters' hall on Saturday night. The affair which was a benefit for the homeless children fund, was a success, both financially and socially.

Tom Stafford has returned from Klamath hot springs where he has been since June.

DEVELOPMENT ASSOCIATION FIGHTS FOR LOWER RATES

SAN MATEO, Nov. 12—The San Mateo County Development Association has started the wheels of action in an effort to have the Southern Pacific Railroad Company lower its single and inter-station transportation rates in this county.

At a meeting of the development association last Tuesday night, the transportation committee reported that a conference had taken place with Attorney Seth Mann, relative to reduced fares. As a result of this conference, Mann, who is an authority on railroads and transportation rates, is having traffic experts investigate the situation in San Mateo county with a view of comparison relative to the rates in other communities.

The work is intricate and by this means Mann will attempt to prove discrimination against and between peninsula points. After this report is completed and submitted to the Board of Governors of the San Mateo County Development Association, a plan of action will be outlined.

The course of procedure will probably be the arrangement of a conference with officials of the Southern Pacific in an attempt to secure the adjustment of existing rates. Should this peaceable method fail, as it likely will, the battle for lower fares will be carried directly before the State Railroad Commission.

The first of this month marked one year that the people of San Mateo county have enjoyed reduced commutation and round-trip fares. This has meant a saving of more than $60,000 a year to the residents here.

From current reports this reduction has not worked to the detriment of the railroad company. Should such prove t he case after an investigation, this condition of affairs ought to assist us in getting further reductions.

In view of past performances the San Mateo County Development Association deserves the moral and financial support of every resident in the county in the present railroad campaign. Every family well knows what the reduction in rates has saved them in the last year.

The rainfall of the season up to yesterday morning, as recorded at the depot, is 1.73 inch. With the fall of yesterday the total is close to 2 inches.

The many friends of Dr. H. W. Taggart will be pleased to learn that he is doing well and on the road to recovery. He is in St. Luke's hospital in San Francisco.

CITY OFFICIAL PAPER

D. E. O'KEEFE, Editor and Proprietor

Tuesday's election returns indicate the rapid decline of the Progressives as a party. The suprt of last year however, served a good purpose byputting the old parties on the defensive and spurring them on to quicker action on the progressive lines, which all had adopted as their policy.—San Mateo Times.

CLING TO ESTABLISHED NAME.

That it is no simple matter to secure a change in the name of a religious organization, especially of one which has become fixed in the minds of both its adherents and the general public by long generations of usage, is evidenced by the action of the general convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church in America, which recently closed its triennial session in New York. After long consideration of the subject that body, which by the way is a thoroughly representative one, plainly refused its sanction to a proposal to change the official designation of the church to that of the American Catholic Church, although the change was seemingly desired by a very considerable number of its communicants and had received the endorsement of a number of diocesan conventions.

Officially the name of that church will remain as it is and has been since its natural separation from the mother Church of England at the time of the final establishment of the independence of the American Colonies from the dominion of the British government. Popularly it will be called the Episcopal Church and its communicants Episcopalians. Nor is it probable that even had the name been changed officially to the American Catholic Church there would have been any change in this popular designation for at least a generation, both because of habit and from the nead of a convenient designation to distinguish them from the Roman and Greek Catholics.

That the official body of that church declined to lend its sanction to the proposed change of name is not a matter of surprise. Members of religious bodies are not generally inclined to look with favor upon any change in the name of their church. Especially is this true where the change is as radical as the one proposed in this instance. That some day not far distant the word "Protestant" may be dropped from the official designation of the church as meaningless and therefore superfluous, seems however not improbable from the general expressions of it members.

THE INCOME TAX LAW.

While the new income tax law has undobutedly been one of the most universally discussed statutes enacted by Congress in many years, it is probably the least understood, even by those whom its provisions will directly affect. With a view to making clear to the general public the most important provisions of the law, Collector of Internal Revenue Joseph J. Scott prepared for a recent issue of the San Francisco Star a comprehensive review of its provisions and requirements from which we epitomized some interesting information.

Primarily the law affects in its scope the following persons: Every citizen of the United States, whether residing at home or abroad; every resident of the United States, whether a citizen or not; every resident of a foreign country deriving an income from within the United States. The normal tax levied under the law is a rate of one per cent on all incomes in excess of $3,000 per year. Where the net income exceeds $20,000 per year an additional rate is added, gradually increasing as follows: One per cent upon the amount by which income exceeds $20,000 but does not exceed $50,000. Two per cent upon the amount by which income exceeds $50,000 but does not exceed $75,000. Three per cent upon the amount by which income exceeds $75,000 but does dnot exceed $100,000. Four per cent upon the amount by which income exceeds $100,000, but does not exceed $250,000. Five per cent upon the amount by which income exceeds $250,000 but does not exceed $500,000. Six per cent upon the amount by which income exceeds $500,000.

There are, however, some notable items of common income that are exept from the tax which may be summarized as follows: The proceeds of life insurance policies received by the beneficiary upon the death of the insured or payments to an insured person on endowment or annuity contracts. Interest on the bonds of a state or any political subdivision, or on the bonds of the United States or any of its possessions or in fact practically all bonds of a public character. The necessary and actual expense of carrying on a person's business, including all interest paid during the year. All national, State, county, school and municipal taxes, except taxes or assessments levied against "Local improvement districts" such as for street improvements, sewers and similar benefits. Losses suffered in trade of by natural calamities, such as fire, storm or shipwrecks. Dividends on the stock or from net earnings of corporations, the earnings of which are taxable in the first instance. An exemption of $1000 if the person has a wife living with him or a husband living wth her.

Exemptions from the provisions of the law are allowed in favor of the following corporations: Labor organizations, agricultural and horticultural associations, mutual savings bank not having capital stock represented by shares, fraternal beneficiary orders and societies, mutual cemetery companies, domestic building and loan associations, religious, charitable, scientific and educational associations, chambers of commerce and similar organizations.

As to the actual collection of the tax, the duties of the taxpayer as an individual are simple. Returns of incomes, made under oath, must be in the hands of the collector of internal revenues not later than March 1st. The tax will be due June 1st and delinquent June 30, when a penalty of 5 per cent will be added.

What is termed the "collection at its source" of the tax is a rather complicated matters, one which almost entirely affects banks and other corporations. For that reason will not be dealt with at this time.

CALIFORNIA.

Tune. The Red, White and Blue.

California, the pride of the Nation
The home of the vine and the tree,
Thy grandeur commands admiration,
The world offers homage to thee.
Thy sons and thy daughters in convention,
Come thy praises to sing and to relate,
And to welcome the ships of every nation
To enter our own Golden Gate.

CHORUS

Three cheers for our own native State
Thy praises we're here to relate,
And welcome the ships of, every nation
To enter our own Golden Gate.

California, we love the most dearly,
Thy fruit, flowers and mines of precious gold,
And we offer thy vintages yearly
In memory of the Pioneers of old,
Who dared every danger of the desert,
The natives on mountains and the plains,
With their eyes ever turning to the Westward,
The signs of their travail still remains.

CHORUS

Come from east, north and south, O, ye people;
And join in the world's greatest air,
May your voices from tower and steeple
In harmony and music swell the fair.
We extend all a cordial invitation
To this slogan our hearts are ever true,
May the banners and flags of every nation
Wave in peace with the red, white and blue.

CHORUS

Three cheers for the red, white and blue,
Three cheers for the red, white and blue,
May the banners and flags of every nation
Wave in peace with the red, white and blue.

Interesting Notes Picked Up By Hustling Reporters in the Country Districts.

SAN BRUNO NOTES.

A milker employed by S. Lombardi, the dairyman of San Bruno, was electrocuted Wednesday. During the storm the wires in the barn commenced to give out sparks. The deceased, not aware of the danger, endeavored to turn off the circuit with wet hands by taking hold of the wires. He was immediately rendered unconscious and died in two hours after the occurrence, although three physicians did all in their power to save his life. A valuable horse was also killed by the dismantled wire falling on its back.

The farmers are in high glee over the rain of the past week. John Zaro will plant an additional 50 acres to cabbage, making 150 acres, and George Sneath 100 acres of the same vegetable. The crop is already contracted for Eastern shipment next spring.

Barber Schoelkopf took a joke in a serious light, according to numerous persons who have themselves been visited by a young element who would place on a house a contrivance called a "tick-tack," worked by pulling a string. The barber failed to look pleasant and smile serenely when his turn came, however, and Tuesday night a stampede on the sidewalks of San Mateo avenue awakened the good people from sleep, followed by several shots. A crowd soon gathered to learn the cause, but the affair was a lark, pure and simple.

The Southern Pacific has completed a new cattle pen near the depot. It is of modern construction and built to stay, if concrete foundations and heavy timbers are any indication.

Camp 410, Woodmen of the World, will give its annual dance and entertainment at Green's hall Thanksgiving Eve, November 26, and it promises to be a rare treat. To begin with, one 25-cent admission ticket is good for the entertainment, dance, door prizes and opportunity to compete for other prizes. An entertainment of high class talent is promised, and at its conclusion a dance on the upper floor, during which turkeys will be raffled and given for prizes. Door prize, fine turkey. Waltz prizes, $2.50 cash. Music by Harmony orchestra. The program certainly is alluring and good for record attendance.

The Ladies Aid Society of the San Bruno Methodist Church have completed arrangements for their fair and bazaar to be held on December 5th and 6th. A number of booths will be arranged at which articles of useful and fancy work made by the ladies will be offered for sale. The fair will be held in the church parlors.

PESCADERO CORRESPONDENCE.

George H. Steele, a pioneer of Pescadero, passed away at his home Tuesday of last week, after an illness of three days caused by pneumonia. The deceased was born at Petaluma on February 8, 1860, but came to this county in 1862. He attended school at Pescadero, but later on it was his good fortune to attend school in San Francisco. Much of the inspiration to activity and enterprise was transmitted from his father, Isaac Steele, who took up his abode here in 1857. It is little wonder that we find George H. Steele ranking among the foremost farmers and dairymen of the county. Thirteen miles south of Pescadero and beautifully located on the coast, his farm of four hundred acres stands out pre-eminent among the surrounding tracts, for the enterprising owner spared no pains or expense to make his farm a model one. He carried on dairying almost exclusively and in his private creamery are manufactured butter and cheese of a superior quality. His reputation as an all-around creamery man was not a local one only, but as general in character as it was well founded. A marriage ceremony solemnized in 1894 united the lives of the deceased and Elizabeth A. Christman, the latter also a native of California, her birth occurring near San Jose. Four children blessed the marriage, Rufus C., Wilfred, Ella and Bernice Steele. Mr. Steele was of the highest type of true manhood, his word was his bond, and those having business dealings with him always spoke in the highest terms of his probity and honesty. His untimely death is not only a sad loss to his family but to the community in which he lived so long, as well.

We have been having some very fine rain here for the past week and all the farmers are feeling much elated and are expecting large crops the coming season.

In some unaccountable manner Winkler collided with the phaeton in which Mr. Long was seated. The impact plunged Winkler into the rig. He struck the occupant forcibly, severly injuring him. Winkler had the bones of his leg fractured in two places and was also injured internally. Dr. Bissell of Redwood City was called and on arriving at Woodside gave the young man temporary aid and took him in his machine to the Huling hospital at Redwood City. Winkler is resting easily and will recover. The motorcycle and phaeton were badly damaged.

PIONEERING BOOM TOWN PROVES LOOSING VENTURE

E. J. Allemand Accuses Promoters of Giving Him a Bum Steer

E. J. Allemand has brought suit in the Superior Court against the American Real Estate Company to recover damages in the sum of $16,690 for misrepresentations made to him by the defendant. The complaint alleges that the real estate company in 1908 informed plaintiff that if he would buy lot 8, block 8, in Visitacion City, in this county, and erect a hotel building, that the streets in the tract would be improved, that curbs and sidewalks would be put in, that improvements to the extent of $500,000 would be made. The defendants also told Allemand that forty residences would be erected at once, car lines would run through the tract and that several factories employing several hundred men would be established in Visitacion. On this representation Allemand purchased the property and built a hotel costing $9000 and furnished it at an expense of $2000. The hotel and saloon was opened on October 1, 1910. Since then plaintiff has been running it at a loss of $65 a month. None of the contemplated improvements were made. The car line proved to be a hoax and the factories never came, the streets are overgrown with weeds and grass and lots have become goose pasture. Mr. Allemand says he is out just $16,690. He alleges that the lot he purchased was only worth $100. He wants $950 back on the property, $8000 for the money spent on the hotel, and $65 a month paid for the management of the hotel for two years, totalling $2340, Allemand is a baker by trade, capable of earning $5 a day and the amount of his wages from October1, 1910, to November 1, 1913 would be $5400. At one time Mr. Splivalo was a power in the Republican party of this county and at every convention he was a conspicuous figure. Formerly he was a director of the First National Bank and the San Mateo County Savings Bank of this city. Injured Workman Looses Suit.

Yesterday afternoon the jury selected to try the damage suit of Frank Convery against the Pacific Gas and Electric Company returned a verdict for the defendant. The case was begun before Judge Buck in the Superior Court Wednesday morning. John D. Willard and John W. Coleberd appeared for the plaintiff and Stanley Moore, John P. Coghlan and Ross & Ross for the gas company. In August 14, 1912. Convery was employed by the company at South San Francisco. He was sent to Lomita Park with a foreman and other workmen in a rig drawn by a fractious horse. On the way the animal became frightened at a steam roller on the roadside. The horse reared and plunged and the plaintiff believing himself in danger jumped from the wagon and was badly injured, having been unable to work for months. The attorneys contended that the company was aware of the fractious animal and should not have had it out with the men. The company's lawyers on the other hand held that the horse was driven for seven years and was as gentle as the proverbial lamb. Willard and Coleberd made eloquent arguments for their client, driving some good facts to the jurymen. Stanley fully sustained his reputation as an orator in his splendid address to the jury for his client. The poll of the jury showed that three of the jurymen were for a verdict for plaintiff and nine for the company. Those in favor of the plaintiff were Thomas Leavey, O. E. Alger and L. Werder, and those for the company, A. Hammerson, John Claussen, Edw. Greeley, W. W. Byrne, E. O. Rhodes, J. A. Genochio, P. O'Hearn.

Highschool Annual Opera

It has been often said that "Love is blind," but from the success of Mr. Daniel Cupid he is pretty lively, and always on the job. In order to accomplish his ends he goes to extremes often, as it is said "All's fair in love and war." Frequently the little gentleman resorts to deception. He takes his prey from ambush; he approaches to the attack, incognito, or wears a disguise of some kind. "Cupid's Disguise" will be illustrated by the music section of the highschool in their annual operetta at the Alhambra theatre, December 12th. Tickets will be out soon.

WITH AN INSURANCE POLICY IN HAND
you will not be worried to death every time the engine turns out. They won't mean such a possibility of ruin to you. The freedom from worry is alone worth the cost of the insurance. Have us get you out a policy today and even if you never have a fire, the sense of protection will be worth more than the cost of the policy.
